$6,000 BLAZE BREAKS OUT IN RESTAURANT

Four Stores Also Damaged in Fire on South Main Street.

DISCOVERED AT 10:20 P. M.

Building in Which Blaze Started Birthplace of Mrs. Warren G. Harding.

Fire starting in the rear of a restaurant at 154 south Main street late last night caused damage to the restaurant and two adjoining buildings. Fire Chief T. J. McFarland estimated the loss at $6,000. It is largely covered by insurance. The building housing the restaurant was the birthplace of Mrs Warren G. Harding.

Cause Unknown

The fire started in the restaurant operated by William F. Wood. The cause was undetermined this morning. The rear of the restaurant was greatly damaged. All the kitchen equipment was destroyed. Part of the roof burned out and fell through to the floor. The rear roof of the Shoe Market, in the same building, was destroyed and the walls damaged.

Persons attending a dance at the Red Men's hall on west Church street just back of the damaged building, first noticed the fire. Fire companies No. 1 and 2 answered the call which was turned in at the Central station when the fire alarm box near the scene proved defective.

The fire, which had gained considerable headway when discovered at 10:20 p. m. kept firemen working for half an hour until they could get it under control. The firemen were fighting the fire until 1:20 a. m. today. About 3 a. m. the fire again broke out but No. 1 company was able to check it in a short time.

Smoke Hampers Work

Dense clouds of smoke poured from the roof where the fire seemed to make the most headway. Five lines of hose were used in fighting the blaze, doors were broken down to get at it and the front window of the Wood restaurant was smashed in when it became unsafe, due to the intense heat. Gas masks were used by some of the firemen in working in the building.

The fire spread from the restaurant to the Economy Paper store on the north side and the Shoe Market on the south. Water and smoke damage was also done to the H. Schaffner Furniture store and the Miller-Jones shoe store.

Dr. Murphy Owns Building

The fire spread under the ceiling to the Shoe Market where it was fought along with the restaurant blaze. More than 50 feet of the restaurant roof had to be torn away to get at the fire. The roof of the Economy Paper store was damaged by the fire but not to a great extent.

The building where the fire started is owned by Dr. F. V Murphy.

FIRE MARS RECORD

Loss for Month Only $50 Until Last Night.

A record month as far as the fire department is concerned was marred last night by the fire at Wood's restaurant and the Shoe Market. Chief T. J. McFarland said today. Previous to the alarm turned in last night, losses from fire in Marion in September amounted to only $50. This mark is the most remarkable in the recollection of the chief. Twelve calls were answered in the month, including the one last night. The fire loss for the month now is $6,050. A year ago, 37 calls were answered with a loss of $4,938.

AVIATOR OVERDUE ON SYRIA-ROME FLIGHT

Fears Felt for Safety of Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith.

By International News Service

ROME, Oct. 1—Fears were expressed here today for the safety of Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, noted Australian aviator, who was several hours overdue on a 1,500-mile flight from Aleppo, Syria, to Rome.

Attempting to establish a new flight record from Australia to England, Kingsford-Smith pushed on from Karachi and Bagdad although he had been ill during early stages of the flight and fainted several times while in the air.

Kingsford-Smith's route from Syria lay across the northern Mediterranean sea and the Greek islands. It was suggested he might have been forced down in the mountainous regions of southern Italy.

Dispatches from Athens said there had been no reports of Kingsford-Smith landing in Greece.

ELECTRIC COMPANIES ASK PROPERTY TRADE

C., D. & M. Involved in Program; Would Draw on Scioto Power Plant.

To unify the respective territories of both companies and make possible more efficient service, the Ohio Electric Power Co., of which the C., D. & M. Electric Co. is a part, and the Ohio Edison Co. of Akron today filed applications with the state utilities commission today to effect an exchange of properties.

Should the transfers be effected, the areas served by both companies would be made more compact through the transfer and allocation of subsidiary properties held by both companies.

Under provisions of the permit sought by the companies, the Ohio Electric would acquire all Ohio Edison properties in Hardin, Champaign, Logan and Union counties, and would serve a greater part of this new era with current from the Scioto power plant, seven miles south of here, which now produces electric energy for the C., D. & M. Electric Co.

Most of the properties which the Ohio Electric would transfer to the Ohio Edison Co. are located in the vicinity of Akron, where the Ohio Edison's central office is located.

The Ohio Edison asked authority to trade its properties in Logan, Union, Champaign and Hardin counties to the Ohio Electric for the Ohio Electric's plants in Ravenna for a cash difference of $1,065,299.88 to be paid by the Sidney company, according to the Associated Press.

The Reserve Power & Light Co asked to sell to the Ohio Edison its properties at Seville, Leroy, Medina and on the Cuyahoga county line for $457,843.73. The Ohio Edison joined in the application.

In another joint application the Ohio Edison asked to buy the Western Reserve Power & Light Co. properties in Medina for $1,036,802.60.

Other Properties

Other properties included in joint applications of Ohio Edison to buy were the Portage Lakes Electric Co. properties in Summit county for $370,689.20, and the Doylestown Electric Light and Power Co. for $113,038.50.

JEWELRY WORTH $300 STOLEN

RINGS, WATCHES TAKEN

North Baltimore Man Killed Year Ago While Fleeing from Same Store.

Approximately $300 worth of rings and jewelry was stolen last night in a burglary of the May jewelry store at 129 west Center street when a section of glass was broken from a display window. The loss was not discovered until 8:30 a. m. A North Baltimore, O., man was shot and killed about a year ago by a patrolman as he fled from the May store after breaking a section of glass in the same window.

Sol Freed, proprietor of the store, said this morning an employe of the store noticed the burglary when he went to the window to take out some articles.

A small section of the window was broken out and the burglar apparently obtained the valuables by reaching into the window with his hand. No clues to the identity of the burglar or burglars had been found this morning.

The articles stolen were five diamond rings with values up to $75 and three men's watches and one woman's watch priced up to $50. A further check is being made of the store to complete the list of stolen articles. Some of the cases for the rings were taken, while others were left. The watches stolen were all wrist watches but one, which was a man's pocket watch with a knife and chain which were also stolen.

MONEY CRISIS FACED BY OHIO GOVERNMENT

Special Session May Be Necessary To Remedy Financial Situation.

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1—Ohio's state government is headed straight toward a financial crisis, it was learned here today.

When the crisis will come to a head is a matter of speculation, but statehouse financial experts are generally agreed that it will come sooner or later within the next few months, and that it may be necessary for Governor White to call a special session of the state legislature to pass remedial legislation.

Some experts predict that the state's general revenue fund may develop a severe case of deficitus before the end of this year. State Finance Director Howard L. Bevis, however, believes that the fund will hold out until next spring.

The revenue to be received by the state during the next three months, Bevis thinks, will be sufficient to pay off all the necessary current operating expenses of the state government and still leave a balance in the general revenue fund.

There are three ways with which to handle the approaching situation.

First—More money may be transferred to the general revenue fund from other state funds.

Second—Further slashes may be made in the costs of state government.

Third—A special session of the state legislature may be called to enact additional tax legislation which would provide adequate revenue.

LINDBERGH FLIES OVER FLOOD AREA

By The Associated Press

MANCHOW, Oct. 1—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Dr. A. Steele, League of Nations health expert, today made their first flood survey flight in the Yellow district, since arriving yesterday from Wuhu. The trio took off from Hangkow, the British aircraft carrier Hermes at 10:30 a. m., and returned at 3 p. m., 71 k. m. Marion time) after which Col. Lindbergh's plane was again refueled aboard the Hermes.

NEW MONEY PLAN NOT LIKELY IN U. S.

Administration Not in Favor of Tampering with Gold Standard.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—The Hoover administration sees no reason for tampering with this country's gold standard or the return to bi-metallism.

In official circles, where this position was made clear today, such agitation as is going forward for a return to bi-metallism was described as coming chiefly from senators representing silver producing states.

Gold was characterized as the most satisfactory base for the country's monetary system and the temporary abandonment of the gold base by Great Britain and several other European countries was regarded as not reflecting a permanent policy.

The United States, with its coffers containing more gold than any other country in the world, was described as having no reason to abandon the gold standard.

From Capitol hill in recent days there have come predictions that bi-metallism would return as a public issue. The latest came from Senator Sheppard of Texas. Although not advocating bi-metallism, he said yesterday it might grow into a full fledged issue by 1932.

Senators Borah of Idaho, Walsh of Montana, Shipstead of Minnesota and Couzens of Michigan have discussed the possibilities of bi-metallism recently.

STEEL WAGES REDUCED

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 1—Wage reductions of 10 per cent went into effect in the Youngstown district steel plants today. Precautions had been taken by most of the plants to guard against any demonstrations. Mill properties were kept illuminated all night and the entire mill police force was on duty in most plants.

2,100 PAY AT GATE TO SEE COUNTY FAIR

Today and Friday Expected To Be Big Days for Annual Exposition.

JUDGES FINISH WORK

Races Pass All Previous Marks in Number of Horses Entered.

Today and Friday will be the "big days" at the Marion county fair, if customs of other years are borne out this year.

Thursday of fair week usually brings the greatest number of paid admissions. The Friday crowd will be augmented by several thousand school pupils, admitted free.

2,100 Pay at Gate

Paid admissions yesterday numbered 2,100, Secretary Carl W. Stiritt said this morning. Approximately 3,000 persons were on the grounds, as exhibitors and those in charge of other displays are admitted free.

The grandstand was practically filled for the King Bros. rodeo performance last night. The stand was only partially filled for the races yesterday afternoon. Several hundred persons viewed both the races and the rodeo from points outside the stand.

Judges were finishing their work among exhibits this morning, completing a task begun yesterday. Judging proved a sizeable job this year, as exhibits outnumber those of last year in every department. One of the greatest increases was noted in sheep exhibits, with 192 head on display. This number trebles exhibits of previous years.

Concession operators reported little activity yesterday, with a slight increase in the volume of business last night.

Two Heats Split

Race horse entries yesterday reached the 227 mark, by far the greatest number ever contesting in the local fair. Two races, the 2:20 pace and the 2:20 trot, were split into two divisions each, and the purse money was increased to $200 for each division. Divisions were made when 33 horses entered the 2:20 pace and 19 entered the 2:20 trot.

Friday will bring the general windup. Exhibits probably will be dismantled late Friday, and the final rodeo performance beginning Friday at 8 p. m. will be the last fair feature.

FATHER, SON HELD IN DEATH OF COLLINGS

Florida Police Arrest Pair in Mysterious Long Island Sound Case.

By The Associated Press

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Oct. 1—A father and a son were held today for questioning in connection with the Benjamin P. Collings murder case in Long Island, N. Y.

Police who detained L. D. Ritchie, 51, and William E. Ritchie, 23, yesterday declined to reveal what information, if any, was obtained in preliminary questioning of the two.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—The detention of a man and his son in Florida failed to stir Suffolk county authorities today in their investigation of the murder of Benjamin P. Collings.

"It is all a surprise to me," Assistant District Attorney Fred J. Munder said, on learning of the detentions at Daytona Beach. "We know nothing whatever of this arrest."

The latest development in the case came about through the partial identification of a body found in Long Island sound Tuesday, as that of William Smith, a laborer, of South Norwalk, Conn. Two restaurant men identified the victim from photographs and descriptions as a recent lodger at the home of Leslie D. Ritchie, 58, a veterinarian, and his son William E. Ritchie, 23.

Mrs. Lillian C. Collings, widow of the Stamford, Conn., engineer who shown photographs of the Ritchies, but failed to identify them. She said two men, one middle aged, the other a youth, boarded her husband's cruiser in the sound, bound him and threw him into the river. She thought a wounded man who accompanied her husband's attackers also had been thrown in the water.

ERIE EMPLOYES TO GO AFTER FREIGHT

500 Marion Members of Force Meet To Plan Drive for Business.

Outlining an effort of the Erie railroad to maintain wages at the present rate and to avoid further lay-offs of men by a campaign to increase the amount of freight handled by the road, T. R. Patton of Cleveland, assistant general passenger agent, addressed a mass meeting last night of more than 500 Marion employes and officials of the Kent division of the road at The Star auditorium. Other prominent officials of the Kent division also spoke at the meeting. H. E. Wilson of Marion, superintendent of the division was the presiding officer.

Hold Other Meetings

Similar meetings have been held in Youngstown, Cleveland and Sharon, Pa., for the same purpose and previous discussion of the plans have taken place here.

A view of the situation which the purpose of the meeting is designed to alleviate was presented by A. R. Tomle of Marion, division freight agent. He gave the loss in earnings of the railroads in the country in 1930 over those of the preceding year as $75,000,000. He also said the earnings in 1931 are running about 20 per cent less than those of 1930.

Explanation of a campaign for the solicitation by employes of freight and passenger traffic on the road was the goal of the meeting. Teams will be chosen within a few days and captains elected from among the employes as an organization for the drive. Individual efforts and ideas, however,

ARRANGE FUNERAL OF CRASH VICTIM

Jarvie Creager, 31, Dies at City Hospital After Auto Collision.

Arrangements were being made today for the funeral of Jarvie Creager, 31, who suffered injuries in an automobile accident east of Marion yesterday afternoon, which resulted in his death three hours later.

Members of his family arrived here early this morning to discuss arrangements for burial and interment.

Creager died at 4 p. m. His skull was fractured in several places and his chest was crushed when the Ford roadster he was driving and in which his wife was riding, collided with a Buick sedan driven by Frank Bartlett, 70, of Mt. Vernon, O.

The accident occurred at the intersection of state routes 95 and 98, five miles east of Marion.

Mrs. Creager, who suffered a broken right arm and body injuries was in a dazed condition yesterday and today and is as incoherent account at City hospital, was understood to give their names as Mr. and Mrs. Artie Creager of Norwalk. She was told of her husband's death late yesterday. Her condition is not regarded as serious by the attending physician, Dr. A. Steiner.

Creager was at one time employed in Norwalk and was on his way there to look for work at the time of the accident. He and his wife had been staying with relatives in Huntington, W. Va., until he found employment. He was at one time employed as an auto mechanic in Norwalk.

Bartlett was not held by county

GRANGE OPPOSES LEGALIZING BEER

Denounces as Unsound the Argument Brewing Would Aid Farmer.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—The National grange, one of the country's leading farm organizations, placed itself on record today as vigorously opposed to legalization of beer.

Through its executive committee, the Grange denounced as unsound the argument of modificationists that farmers would be aided through consumption of grain by legalized breweries.

The committee said it had made several studies of the economic effort of prohibition on farming and "the facts disclosed by these studies show conclusively that the resumption of the brewing industry in the United States would be detrimental to the interests of agriculture."

Green Camp Man Named Baptist District Head

Rev. V. P. Powell Elected Moderator of Marion Association; Succeeds Rev. S. F. Pottorf of Fite Memorial Church; Next Annual Session at Radnor.

Rev. V. P. Powell of Green Camp was elected moderator of the Marion Baptist association in the afternoon session yesterday at Fite Memorial Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Powell succeeds Rev. S. F. Pottorf, pastor of Fite Memorial church, who served as moderator for two years. Officers of the association, trustees, chairman and a B. Y. P. U. president were elected. The 1932 meeting will be at Radnor.

Professor Tu of the University of Shanghai, China, who is in this country for post graduate work at Chicago university, addressed the women's session yesterday afternoon and the B. Y. P. U. session last night.

Porter Vice Moderator

Rev. S. F. Porter, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church here, was elected vice moderator of the association. Other officers elected follow:

Mrs. Charles J. Rodman of Radnor, clerk; Mrs. Harry Lodwig of Prospect, assistant clerk; Carl Harmon of Prospect, treasurer; W. E. Griffith of Prospect and W. L. Williams of Radnor, trustees for three years; E. O. Uncapher of Trinity, Marion, chairman of Men's council; Stanley Brobeck of Fite Memorial, Marion, chairman of Sunday school promotion; Miss Mary Richter of Green Camp, president of B. Y. P. U.

Professor Tu told of the way in which Christianity has been brought to Chinese students, in his talk last night. When the old time Sunday school plans failed, the teachers succeeded in arousing the interest of the students with discussion meetings. Classes were divided into groups of 10, to meet with an instructor. No prepared lessons were studied, but the students discussed things of mutual interest in their search for Christianity. "In this way," Prof. Tu said, "we gained great headway with our students ,obtaining many confessions and baptisms in the Christian faith."

Eddy Speaks

Clarence Eddy, secretary of Denison university, gave a short talk last night.

Mrs. W. S. Lincoln, field secretary of the Northern Baptist convention, spoke yesterday afternoon on the problems the missionaries meet, of the interest, time and money they spend in foreign countries, keeping before them the words of Jesus, "Go ye therefore into all the world and preach the gospel."

Young people are not being given the training necessary for their work, Mrs. Lincoln said. Yesterday morning Miss Ruth Mather of Granville gave a short talk at the close of the session.

Last night the young people of the Trinity society presented a play. D. H. Gorman of Marion, president of the Marion B. Y. P. U. association, was in charge of the meeting.

BALLARD GUILTY OF ENTERING CHARGE

Jury Convicts Marion Man After Two and One-Half Hours.

A jury yesterday afternoon found Carlos A. Ballard of Marion guilty of breaking and entering a warehouse and garage of the Centennial Coal Co. The jury deliberated two and a half hours.

Kermit K. Campbell, charged with taking part in the breaking and entering, and whose trial was scheduled for today, will be tried Oct. 15 as the result of a postponement.

Testimony of the prosecution showed the men had broken into the building, but were frightened away by police before they had obtained any loot.

Homer E. Johnson represented Ballard yesterday and will also represent Campbell. Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Wilhelm prosecuted the cases. Judge Scofield has not sentenced Ballard.

HUNTING LICENSE SALES BOOST FEES

Augmented by hunting license fees, receipts of the office of the clerk of courts totaled $555.42 in September, Everett B. Grigsby, clerk, said this morning.

Other sources of fees include the handling of court cases, and filing bills of sale. In August, receipts of the office amounted to $526.45.

EAGLES PLAN FOR OFFICIAL'S VISIT

Plans were made for entertaining State Vice President Francis Durbin of Lima in one week at the meeting of Buckeye Aerie No. 337, F. O. E., last night in the Eagles temple. Mr. Durbin will represent the state organization. A bunch, in charge of the social committee, will be served following the session. Arrangements also were made for lodge officers and a number of the members to attend a district caucus to be held in the lodgerooms at Delaware Oct. 18. Routine business was transacted and one application received. The next meeting will be in one week.

A key has been invented that can be locked in the keyhole of a door, preventing the insertion of a skeleton key or tool to pick the lock.

St. Louis Host to Baseball Throng as Classic Opens

CITY HAS CARNIVAL ATMOSPHERE ABOUT AS SERIES STARTS

Careful Study of Teams Reveals, 'Tis Said, That A's or Cards Will Win.

BY JOHN P. MEDBURG
(Written especially for International News Service).
(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1—St. Louis today is acting as America's host, and notables from all over the country are being presented with keys to the city. At 11 o'clock this morning the mayor had already given away 10,000 more keys than there are key-holes. Celebrities who arrive after noon time were disappointed and will now have to content themselves with picking the locks.

I won't mention the name of the hotel where I'm stopping, but the pillows are so hard the house-detective uses them for black-jacks.

The first person I ran into when I arrived, was one-eyed Connolly, all dressed up in a new crash suit. He says he pedaled all the way here from Detroit on a borrowed bicycle—that's his idea of free wheeling.

Connolly, or one-eye, as they call him for short, is getting thriftier all the time. One of the ball players presented him with an Austin this afternoon and Connolly immediately covered it with a set of furs so that he'd only have to buy a god license for it.

I'm having quite a hard time concentrating, as Lefty Grove, (Connie Mack's right hand man) is standing out in the hall practicing a new spit-ball for today's game. Spit is a horrid word, but it's worse on the end of a baseball.

There's just been a lot of commotion down the street. One of the Cardinal players decided to elope with a girl who's living on the twelfth floor. As it was too high for a ladder, he had the fire department hold a life net below, and in their excitement they jumped out a different window.

There was a made accident down stairs a few minutes ago. A couple of umpires went into conference and fractured their skulls. It serves them right for trying to think.

They've got an umpire this year who's a genius. He can go from one game to another without waking up.

Today is the big day at Sportsman's field. Lefty Grove is the Phillie's ace but Gabby Street says he has a card with which to trump him.

I have studied both teams carefully and can state definitely that winner of today's game will be either the Athletics or St. Louis but don't quote me.

Consumption of English walnuts in the United States has increased about 20 percent of the year.

Buckeye Back

Jew Hinchman of Columbus, son of Bill Hinchman, former baseball pitcher, is expected to be a backfield mainstay of Ohio State university's football team this fall. Hinchman has shown remarkable ability to crash a line and is also adept at open field running.

ST. PAUL WINS

Saints Wallop Red Wings in Little World Series Opener.

By The Associated Press

LEXINGTON PARK, St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 1—Another pitching contest between righthanders was in prospect today as Rochester sought to come abreast of St. Paul in the junior world series of baseball.

Manager Bill Southworth of the International league club, which took a 4 to 0 trimming yesterday after a home run with bases loaded broke up the game, selected Herman Bell to do the flinging.

For St. Paul, participating in the inter-league competition for the first time since 1924, Manager Lefty Leifeld selected John Murphy, who goes to the New York Yankees next season.

Yesterday's opening game was a twirler's battle between Carmen Hill and Walter (Huck) Betts. Yesterday's paid attendance was 4,344. Gross receipts were $5,817, of which $3,490 was the players' share and $1,454 the club's division.

Special shoes, no heavier than for street wear, will be used by the University of California at Los Angeles football squad this season.

THREE DAY PROGRAM OF RACING OPENS AT MARION COUNTY FAIR

Two Opening Events Split as Record Entry List Competes for Purses.

With the largest entry list in the history of the affair, the eighty-first annual Marion county fair harness racing program got under way yesterday afternoon at the fairground track with a five-event program. The exceptionally large number of entries required the dividing of two of the originally scheduled three events. More than 225 horses are now quartered in the stables surrounding the track.

The scoring method of starting the races is being used for the fair races. Starter Vic Peters of London, O., experienced some difficulty in several of the races getting the horses off to a good start but as a whole there was less scoring than on an average day's racing.

The best time of the afternoon was turned in in the three-year-old pace when Star Philestone stepped off the mile in 2:09 flat to set the pace for the rest of the field. The time of the events was somewhat slower than average.

An extra heat was necessary to decide the winner of the second division of the 2:20 trot event, Peter Walnut stepping across the line ahead of the field to cop the race in 2:15. Laura May Bee finished in front in the first heat and Guy Arion finished in the lead in the second heat. Peter Walnut then stepped out in the next two heats and took the event.

The program of the races are scheduled to continue through today and Friday. Four events are on today's card but a dividing of part of them will make at least five races. The starting time has been moved up one half hour. The first event is billed to start at 12:30.

Six Colleges in East To Launch Sked This Week

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Six of the east's "big" football colleges will play their first games of the season this week along with a score or more of schools rated at "little" or perhaps "medium" in the gridiron world, and four of the six have new coaches to introduce.

The old "big three," Yale, Harvard and Princeton, still restricted by agreement to late starting begin their season with warm-up games. Pennsylvania and Navy join them in their late start, while Western Maryland, which came out of the small colleges class a couple of seasons ago by upsetting the big fellows with considerable regularity, jumps right into the thick of action by tackling Georgetown.

Yale, still under the guidance of Mal Stevens, is not expecting much trouble from Maine. Eddie Casey should start off his Harvard coaching regime with flying colors against Bates, which looks a bit weaker than usual. Princeton, with Al Wittmer taking over the coaching reins dropped by Bill Roper, leads off against Amherst, still an unknown quantity this season.

Pennsylvania, with an entirely altered system and with Harvey Harman, directing it, opens against Swarthmore, a regular early season victim which went down 62-0 last season.

Navy, with Rip Miller supplanting "Navy Bill" Ingram, should do no worse than last year when the midshipmen downed William & Mary 19-6 and there are hopes that the Notre Dame coaching will bring an improvement.

A number of other leading colleges get down into their real stride this week, meeting opponents of greater importance. Pittsburgh tackles perhaps the toughest assignment of them all. The Panthers already are on their way to face Iowa at Iowa City.

MARION TOSSERS IN VICTORY AT GALION

Four local horse shoe pitchers journeyed to Galion Tuesday night and defeated the Galion horseshoe club by a score of 11 to 5. This was Galion second defeat this year.

Pinney and Wynn of the local team went undefeated, while Weimer who split even in his four games was the leading scorer for Galion.

The individual scores:

Weimer	2	2	100	21
Robertson	1	3	77	14
Graubaugh	1	3	60	4
Beck	1	3	95	9
Totals	5	11	332	48
Marion	W.	L.	R.	D.
Pinney	4	0	116	26
Wynn	4	0	112	30
Noble	2	2	78	13
Courtney	1	3	78	8
Totals	11	5	384	77

Marion has games scheduled with Cardington and Mansfield for the near future.

Brokensword News

BROKENSWORD — A farewell party was held for Ervin Ulmer at his home on Saturday evening. He is leaving Monday for Fort Wayne, Ind., to study electrical engineering. Those present were Albert Gebhardt, Harvey Klink, Ervin and Victor Ulmer, Clara and Luetta Fisher, Idona Breigle, Evelyn Schnarenberger, Rosa Ulmer and Hilda Lahman. Refreshments were served by Rosa Ulmer and Luetta Fisher.

A dinner was held for Lloyd Candel at his home Sunday in honor of his twenty-first birthday. His mother served dinner to his Sunday school class.

Mervin Uptegraff of Findlay is visiting at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Drummond.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heiber of Fostoria and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Shumaker were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Heiber.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Corer and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lahman and son were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fauser.

Mrs. Jess Shuck and two daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McKeehn of Sulphur Springs were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. John Shuck.

Tulane's Great Grid Stars

Undefeated in the south for two seasons, Tulane is counting heavily on this trio to head another victory march this season in the Dixie conference. Most of the offense will hinge around Don Zimmerman, hailed as one of the south's greatest halfbacks. Nollie Felts, back, is a ground gainer of great ability and Cap't. Jerry Dalrymple has no peer in the south as an end.

SHIRES NOT DRAFTED BY ANY MAJOR CLUB

Leading Association Hitter Passed by Moguls at Draft Meeting.

By United Press

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1—The failure of any major league club to draft Art Shires, Milwaukee first baseman and leading hitter of the American Association, was the big surprise of the annual draft meeting here last night.

Cincinnati, which has first pick of players eligible for the draft, selected Catcher Clyde Manion from Milwaukee, and nullified any chance of Shires being drafted, only one player may be drafted from each team.

Fifteen players were drafted, the fewest in years. The American league selected only three and the National league the remaining 12.

The list of drafted players follows:

American League

Chicago White Sox: Second Ralph Houson, Texas league club, .323 and named most valuable player in the league.

St. Louis Browns: Shortstop Wescott Kingdon, Chattanooga Southern league, .278.

New York Yankees: Pitcher Frank Nekola, Jersey City International league.

National Club

Cincinnati Reds: Catcher Clyde Manion, Milwaukee American Association, .303.

Boston Braves: Pitcher Walter Betts, St. Paul American Association, won 22, lost 13. Catcher William (Red) Hargrave, Baltimore International league, .350. Pitcher Frank Coleman, Scranton, N. Y.-Pa. league, won 1, lost 3. Pitcher Leo Mangim, Newark International league, won 14, lost 9.

Phillies: Shortstop George Koupthe, New Orleans Southern league, .283. Catcher Al Todd, Dallas Texas league, .270.

Pittsburgh: Outfielder Dave Barbee, Hollywood Pacific coast league, .332, led the league in home runs with 46.

Chicago Cubs: Pitcher L. N. Newsome, Little Rock Southern league, won 16, lost 14. Pitcher Marvin Grdal, Columbus American Association, won 4, lost 4.

New York Giants: Pitcher Herman Bell, Rochester International league, won 16, lost 11. Shortstop Eddie Moore, Oakland Pacific coast league, .321.

Bowling Statistics

Only five teams in the Ladies' Recreation bowling league bowled their regular weekly schedule last night on the Recreation alleys. The others postponed their games until a later date.

Clapsaddle's team swept the three games with Ritzhaupt's flag bearers with scores of 474, 497 and 480 against 403, 388 and 405.

WHITE SOX WIN FIRST GAME OF CITY SERIES

Faber Stops Cubs While Root Is Blasted from Mound in Sixth.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—There was great joy and shouting in the camp of Donie Bush's oft manhandled White Sox today for a change. They were one up on their north-side rivals, the Cubs, in the battle for the Chicago city series championship.

Clicking like champions, the White Sox staggered the Cubs, 9 to 0, yesterday in the opening battle for the title and were smiling for the first time this year.

"Red" Faber, 43-year-old veteran of the downtrodden pitching staff, was the hero of the first game. Faber held the National leaguers to five scattered hits. Blanked by Root in a chanky game recently, the White Sox bats exploded so loudly and effectively in the sixth that they blew Root off the mound with seven runs. They added two more in the seventh.

Vic Frasier, Manager Bush's pitching selection for the second game today with Guy Bush named as the starting pitcher for the Cubs.

The attendance of the opening game was somewhat disappointing. Only 16,641 watched the battle. The gross receipts were $18,608.50 of which $9,457.83 will be split up among the players.

OHIO COLLEGES FACE HEAVY SCHEDULE ON GRIDIRON SATURDAY

Ohio Wesleyan Seeks Revenge from Student Princes at Delaware Stadium.

By The Associated Press

Three games tomorrow night will precede a heavy Saturday in Ohio's football fronts.

While a good many eleven still await their season's opener two days away, John Carroll's blue streak will go into action for the second time under the floodlights of Cleveland's municipal stadium. The Blue Streak, however, is doped to take a beating from a heavier Wittenberg aggregation.

Wittenberg will finish its preparations with a light practice tonight, as will John Carroll. The Carroll backfield, reinforced by the return of Carmen Arenone, a sophomore who had been ill, looked especially good yesterday. Charles Hoeflick of Cleveland, junior halfback, stood out at Wittenberg.

St. Xavier probably will open its season against Kenyon without the services of two injured regulars. The third game tomorrow night will find Findlay, surprise victors over Case last week, tackling Muskingum.

The University of Dayton wound up its practice yesterday for the week-end's lone intersectional game involving Ohio teams and was to start the journey east today to meet Boston college. The flyers squad, 26 strong, was in good condition with the exception of Gorry and Hannegan, halfbacks, and Bauer and Armstrong, guards, who have minor injuries.

Ohio Wesleyan will seek revenge Saturday for last year's 25 to 13 defeat from Heidelberg, Ohio of the country's few undefeated teams last year. The Student Princes beat Hope, Mich., last week, but Coach Turney was dissatisfied and has been juggling his lineup. At present the Princes have a fairly strong lineup but an uncertain backfield.

Mount Union continued to stress its passing game yesterday as Jess Grimes, fullback, was out with illness. Grimes, one of the Mounts best ball carriers, may not be able to start against Bowling Green.

The University of Cincinnati Bearcats worked overtime hoping to make a good showing against Ohio State. Coach Dana King is expected to use as many of his husky sophomores as possible for benefit of the experience.

Coach Tom Keady, whose Western Reserve charges go to Purdue Saturday, benched a number of regulars and was pleased with the showing of several new men who may get in the Purdue tussle.

15 ENROLL HERE IN EXTENSION COURSE

O. S. U. Gives First Lecture; Another Class To Open Tonight.

A class of 15, including two women, was enrolled in the Ohio State university extension course in business law, last night at Harding High school. Prof. J. Wayne Ley gave the opening lecture.

The university is offering two courses, in business law and investments, to be held weekly on Wednesday and Thursday nights at the high school. The first class in investments will be held tonight at 7 with Prof. Milo Kimball in charge.

The classes have been organized for the benefit of persons in Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky, Kenton, Mt. Gilead, Galion, Crestline and other communities in the vicinity of Marion.

Credits will be given by the university to those completing the required study in one or both courses. Three phases of business law will be discussed, contracts in the autumn quarter, sales and agency in the winter quarter and negotiable instruments in the spring quarter.

Principles of investments will be studied in the autumn and winter quarters of the course in investments and investment analysis will occupy the spring quarter. The class period is from 7 to 8:50 p. m. Both Profs. Ley and Kimball are members of the university faculty.

RICHWOOD TO PLAY FOREST GRID TEAM

Galion County Coach Makes Changes in Lineup for Battle.

RICHWOOD, Oct. 1—Numerous changes are being made this week by Coach W. R. Hill in the Richwood High school football lineup in preparation for a hard contest with Forest here Friday afternoon.

Coach Hill has moved Captain John Curry from the backfield to a tackle berth and Clifford Wasserbeck has been made a ball carrier instead of a guard. Damon Ledley, who has been on the hospital list, will start at center. These changes are expected to strengthen the line and inject more speed into the backfield.

Both Forest and Richwood played their first games last week. Forest defeated Waynesfield 6 to 0 while Richwood was held to a 7 to 7 tie by Woodstock.

MRS. MYRON BLAND DIES NEAR CAREY

CAREY, Oct. 1—Mrs. Myron Bland died at her home five miles northeast of here after an illness of three years. She was born near Carey, Jan. 6, 1889.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the home and at 2:30 p. m. in Christ Lutheran church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Surviving are the husband, five children, Luella Mae, Arthur, Frederick, Myron Jr. and Richard, all at home, three sisters, Mrs. Blanche Stiegerwalt of Adrian, Mrs. Florence Kinney of near McCutchenville and Mrs. Carey Phillips of near here and two brothers, Lewis and Harvey Deis of near here.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation — bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious.

It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action! Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascara, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets. 10c.—Adv.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Grimes Golden apples, recent arrivals on the markets, reached slightly lower prices today, selling for six pounds for from 15 to 20 cents. Bartlett pears are a little higher, bringing around 25 cents for three pounds. The price on lemons remains about the same, dealers said, with prices from 47 to 53 cents a dozen prevailing.

Tokay grapes are up a few cents in price selling for two pounds for 19 or 20 cents. The Concord variety sells for 49 or 50 cents for a 12-quart basket.

A slight decrease in the lettuce price was shown today with most dealers selling two heads for 15 to 20 cents. Homegrown peppers remain on the market yet, selling for about four pounds for a dime. Spanish onions, new on local markets, are being introduced at six cents a pound.

Very few Florica oranges are on the market now, with dealers expecting shipments within a couple of weeks. California oranges are being sold at prices ranging from two dozen for 33 cents to 59 cents a dozen.

WILL OBSERVE FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Chief McFarland Calls on Residents To Remove Blaze Hazards.

An appeal was made today to all citizens of Marion by Fire Chief T. J. McFarland to take part in the annual observance of Fire Prevention week, Oct. 4 to Oct. 10 in accordance with President Hoover's proclamation for the week.

Starting Monday a complete inspection of all business and manufacturing districts will be made by city firemen who will make the necessary recommendations for repairs and improvement. This is expected to last two or three days.

Special fire drill practice will make up most of the observance of the week in the city schools.

Chief McFarland added that every citizen should continue to be watchful in regard to fire prevention throughout the year as fires that could be prevented cause each year tremendous financial loss.

A few of Chief McFarland's suggestions for observance of this week follow: Clean chimneys, flues and pipes of soot; dispose of matches and smoking materials carefully; use only safe compounds in cleaning clothes and other articles; an application of soap suds will reveal by bubbles any suspected gas leaks, in preference to searching with matches, etc.; walls, ceiling and partitions should be shielded from stoves, furnaces and pipes; open fireplaces should always be screened and gas lights turned off tightly when not in use and lastly learn where the nearest fire alarm box is located and what to do in case of fire.

There is no substitute for S.S.S.

Secure S.S.S. from your own druggist . . . with few exceptions druggists are ethical and conscientious, and will not offer a substitute.

No medicine has the same formula as this time-tested Blood Tonic . . . nor does any other concern gather the same roots with their own trained collectors and extract the active medicinal principles, unchanged, in their original fresh state—this is the secret of S.S.S. . . . there is no substitute.

THOUSANDS of people have a low red-blood-cell count and don't recognize it.

Bodily vitality . . . the urge to be up and doing, depends upon the right number of red cells.

A low red-blood-cell count often exhibits itself in one or more of the following symptoms:—paleness, quick fatigue, lack of normal resistance to disease, pimples, boils, and general run-down condition.

A lagging appetite often leads to underweight and ill health in various manifestations.

Take S.S.S. as a tonic and notice how much better you will "feel" . . . it has effect in aiding Nature to build red-blood-cells and creating an appetite for food. These two things working together aid the human body in its struggle for health and vitality.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today? . . . the larger size is more economical.

YOUNG MEN'S GROUP WILL HOLD MEETING

Council Will Hold Second Session To Plan Program.

The second meeting of the Young Men's Council of Marion clubs has been called for Friday at 7:15 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. The purpose of the council is to furnish a clearing house for club activities and ideas and to work with the various young men's clubs on plans for the future. The first meeting was Sept. 18.

Officers of the council are Robert Heininger, president; "Bud" Cram, vice president, and Kenneth Metcalf, secretary. The council is made up from two members from each Young Men's club of the Y. These clubs are the Y-indus, Square Heads and the Phalans.

The first large undertaking of the council will be the handling of the state conference of Young Men's clubs which meets here Feb. 12, 13 and 14, 1932. The council will have full charge of the meeting, it was announced.

Among the other purposes of the council are to help organize new clubs with a goal of six set for this year, help clubs work out projects, arrange for speakers, study the needs of the young men of Marion and promote definite enterprises for the clubs.

FRANK P. AULT, 78, CLAIMED BY DEATH

Richland Township Resident for Many Years Dies After Short Illness.

Frank P. Ault, 78, resident of Richland township virtually all his life, died yesterday at 1:45 p. m. at the home of his son Albert Ault of 10 miles southeast of Marion. A 10 days illness of heart trouble and a stroke of paralysis Tuesday morning combined to cause his death.

Mr. Ault was brought to Richland township by his parents, when an infant, and had lived in the township the remainder of his life. He was born Oct. 7, 1852, in Belmont county. His son Albert is the only surviving member of the family. Mrs. Ault died three years ago.

The funeral will be conducted Saturday at 10 a. m. at the son's home and at 10:30 a. m. at Salem Evangelical church east of Marion. Burial will be made in Salem cemetery.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Oct. 2.

A PARTICULARLY lively and engaging state of affairs may be looked for on this day swing to the high stimulus of major planets. Employment is under a very propitious sway for advancement, recognition of merit and personal graces, it being a time for pushing for all manner of favors and preferments. The private character and social qualifications may be stressed in the attainment of prestige and business progress. The financial outlook is good, but be on guard against duplicity or fraud.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a splendid year with much profit and progress in employment, business and in the purely personal associations. It is a time for pushing for favors, emoluments and advancement in all directions, but nevertheless be on guard against betrayal or subtle danger. A child born on this day should have many attainments as well as social graces and should reach a high place, with much popularity and prestige, although he may be subject to treachery.

Do You Go Through This

An Hour After Eating?

Do you begin to have pain in your stomach or across your back? Gas rumbling in your stomach and bowels pressing on your heart until you think you are going to suffocate? A sour liquid coming up in your mouth, with bits of undigested food? Belch?

Try a tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsin before you eat and see if that doesn't help.

You will notice a big difference after the first meal. No pain. No discomfort. No belching. You're not conscious of your digestion in any way. With each succeeding meal you feel better and better.

Three days tells the story. Go to Heeney & Copper or any live druggist and get this guaranteed relief —money back if Dare's fails to fix you up.—Adv.

ERIE EMPLOYES TO GO AFTER FREIGHT

500 Marion Members of Force Meet To Plan Drive for Business.

will play a heavy part, the speakers said.

To Go After Freight

The employes are to call upon their friends in business to explain the campaign and endeavor to stimulate the use of the railroad in shipping and travel. All employes will be unofficial members of the traffic department during the drive.

"The situation is largely due," Patton said, "to heavy inroads made in the use of railroads by trucks and busses." More than 25,000 employes depend on the Erie railroad for their living, he said, and will be affected by the results of the campaign. C. G. Johnson, supervisor of station and car service at Akron, said that Marion's 1,200 Erie employes, figured as 5,100 persons dependent here on the road, would share in the benefits which are expected to be brought about. Other speakers remarked that surprising results have been shown in the last several weeks from the meetings held in other Erie centers.

The close connection of the road with the community life of Marion was stressed by A. L. Conrad, local freight agent, who said the local payroll was $130,000 a month and operating taxes paid to the county last year amounted to $41,000.

Other division officials at the meeting included J. P. Clark, division passenger agent at Akron and F. J. Flynn, general freight agent at Springfield.

the Rhine called the Palatinate, reaching from Frankfurt to the French Alsatian border, is proud that President Hoover is included among 5,000,000 descendants of men and women that came to America from that little stretch of river front. Given opportunity, the human race multiplies rapidly.

The 5,000,000 descendants of men from the Palatinate are five times as numerous as all the inhabitants of that country.

Americans discussing prohibition will be interested to learn that the "Hubers," spelled "Hoover" in America, still live, as President Hoover's ancestors did, on the sale of wine from their vineyards, on hills above the Rhine.

Many Americans think that wine, with light beer added, would hurt the United States less than our present brands of bootleg whisky, "bathtub" gin, and assorted moonshine.

officers yesterday, after he had furnished references and agreed to come to Marion at any time he might be called. He is a coal and builders' supply dealer in Mt. Vernon.

Creager was born July 10, 1900, in Bruthup county, Ky., to John W. and Jane Bailey Creager. His mother is dead. Mrs. Creager before their marriage was May McCloud of Huntington. They had no children.

Three brothers, one living in Plymouth, O., two sisters and his father survive with the widow. The two brothers, sisters and the parent live in Huntington. Funeral arrangements had not been completed at noon today.

CUPID JILTED AS ESCAPE PLAN FAILS

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 1—Two couples, prisoners in the Jefferson county jail, were in solitary confinement today instead of on their contemplated honeymoons.

The would-be brides were Lillian Orgurack, 19, of Pittsburgh and Edith Howard, 24, of Cadiz, held as witnesses in a Mann act case. Their intended spouses were Henry J. Smith 23, of New Cumberland, W. Va., held on a liquor charge and Albert McDevitt, 21, of East Liverpool, accused of larceny.

Sheriff Howard Yost said the couples had become acquainted in jail and had planned to escape and to be wed; Smith and McDevitt, both trusties, were caught helping the girls pry up the floor in the men's quarters so the four could escape by means of a rope ladder made from bed clothing, the sheriff said.

GIVES POOR RELIEF RULING

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1—Interpreting the Pringle-Roberts public welfare bill, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman held in a ruling to the state board of accounting that funds derived from general taxes for current expenses may be spent for poor relief. The ruling applied specifically to Cleveland and adjacent territory.

$1000 Reward Offered for a Name

The distributors of one of the fastest selling lines of cosmetics in Hollywood are going to introduce a new Hand Lotion which they claim is unexcelled for beautifying the hands and face. Before spending thousands of dollars in advertising it, they want to be sure the new Hand Lotion has the best possible name, and therefore are offering a thousand dollars reward to the person who suggests the name they choose as most suitable. Readers of this announcement are urged to send in their suggestions for a name at once, because five hundred dollars extra will be given the winner if name is mailed and postmarked before October 3, 1931. Each contestant must send only one name; otherwise he will be disqualified, and the name must be mailed to Hollywood Marvel Products Co., Studio 2-JE 1623 N. Sycamore Ave., Hollywood, California. Everyone is invited to submit a name and in case of ties duplicate prizes will be given. Officials of the firm say that any name may win the fifteen hundred dollars, even if submitted on a postcard or scrap of paper; so send your suggestion at once.—Adv.

MAN SENTENCED IN GALION CASE

Earl Erwin Goes to Leavenworth for Narcotic Prescription Forgery.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 1—Arraignments of nearly 300 defendants named in 171 indictments returned by the federal grand jury last week, began in federal district court before Judge Samuel H. West today. More than 90 per cent of the 200 liquor law violators pleaded guilty.

William M. Burr and Edgar Beck, Mansfield national guardsmen, indicted for forging and passing government pay checks to fellow guardsmen, pleaded guilty and were placed on 18-month probation periods after they listened to a severe lecture from the court.

Earl Erwin, charged with forging a narcotic prescription at Bakers' drug store, Galion, was sentenced to two year at Leavenworth penitentiary when he pleaded guilty.

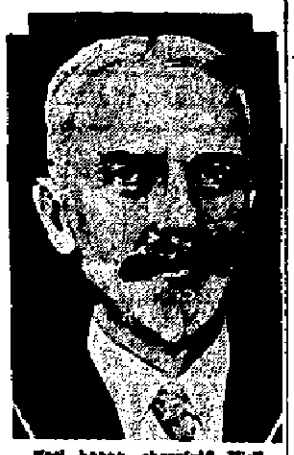
DON'T WHISTLE



Feel happy, cheerful? Well, if you must, go ahead—but don't whistle. That is, unless you want to be branded as a moron by this savant of the philosophy department of New York university, Professor Charles Gray Shaw (above). He says that whistling on the part of humans is a sign of a terrific inferiority complex to say nothing of low mentality. Prof. Shaw, would like to know, he says, if anybody ever heard such men as Einstein, Edison, Mussolini or President Hoover pucker up their lips into a whistle.

FORMER CITY MAIL CARRIER IS CLAIMED

John Carpenter, 55, Dies Near Cardington from Injuries Suffered in Fall.

CARDINGTON, Oct. 1—John Carpenter, 55, former Marion mail carrier, died this morning at his home three miles west of here. He was born Oct. 30, 1875.

He died from complications believed to have developed from injuries suffered four years ago when he fell off a step while delivering mail in Marion. The injuries forced him to retire from the mail service. He had been seriously ill the last year.

Surviving are the widow, one son Virgil, four sisters, Mrs. William Bartlett and Mrs. Jesse Curren of near here, Mrs. Ira Williams of Galion and Mrs. H B. Jenkins of Mt. Gilead and two brothers, Chet of near here and Arthur of Cleveland.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Car Stolen — A Chevrolet coach was reported to police at 8:25 a. m. today as stolen from the city parking lot between 8 p. m. and 10:30 p. m. last night by Guy Smith of R. F. D. No. 1 of Waldo. The car was painted blue-black.

Soft Corns

Those itching, burning, painful torments on the balls of your feet and between your toes need not cost you another hour of agony.

They will respond at once to a brisk rubbing with Moone's Emerald Oil. Henney & Cooper says to use the oil two or three times a day, and bind your corns at night with a cloth soaked in the oil. Your corns will shrivel up and scale off as easy as can be in just a day or two. Money back if they don't.—Adv.

MAC DONALD STRIKES AT FOOD PROFITEERS

Economy Bill Gives Government Powers Similar to Dictatorship.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 1—Armed with powers approaching those of a dictatorship, by virtue of the passage of its economy bill, Ramsay MacDonald's national government struck today at London's food profiteers to check prices which already had begun to soar.

The house of lords put through the economy bill last night and King George approved it. Now the government rules by orders in council, and may put its economy measures into effect without consulting the parliament.

The anti-profiteering bill gives the board of trade arbitrary power to prevent price increases in foodstuffs and provides a three months' jail sentence or £50 fine for violation of its regulations.

Meanwhile, Lord Reading, the foreign secretary, and other members of the government consulted the king, presumably regarding the possibility of a general election in the near future. The prime minister himself is going tomorrow to Seaham Harbor to place this same issue before the constituents whom he represents in the house of commons.

SHORT SELLING IS HIT BY SEN. WATSON

Exchange Warned That Congress Likely To Take Action.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—Unless the stock exchanges themselves act, Senator Watson of Indiana believes congress will legislate safeguards against short selling by speculators who seek profits through depression of security values.

The Republican senate leader yesterday warned the exchanges that members of congress were convinced these transactions were retarding recovery from the depression and stood ready to inquire into the practice.

Because of his position as administration pilot on Capitol Hill, it was believed that Senator Watson reflected also the view of high government officials toward the recent bear raids in the stock market.

Certain it is that he speaks with some authority, and his prediction that "a thorough and searching investigation of this method of dealing with stocks will be made by a senate committee" is being given serious attention here.

POLICE PUZZLED BY PLAYWRIGHT'S DEATH

Coroner Hints Possible Murder in Kenneth Raisbeck Case in Connecticut.

By The Associated Press

WESTPORT, Conn., Oct. 1—Police suspicion that Kenneth Raisbeck, 32, author and playwright, had been slain assumed greater significance today with the announcement of Dr. William H. McMahon, medical examiner, that he had decided to reserve his decision in the case, pending a coroner's inquest.

It followed an earlier statement scouting the theory of foul play and giving acute meningitis as the cause of death. Refusing to accept this decision as final, Westport police announced they were basing their inquiry on the supposition that Raisbeck was slain and his body tossed into Christ church cemetery, where it was found yesterday.

Dr. McMahon first said that while an autopsy had shown no indications of foul play, the circumstances surrounding the death were suspicious and unusual. From the bruises on the neck, he said, it appeared that Raisbeck might have been choked.

Raisbeck's one and only play to reach Broadway "Rock Me, Julie," was a failure, lasting but two weeks. The young playwright immediately began work on another, however, and this play was nearly finished at the time of his death.

PRESBYTERIANS TO AID HOOVER CAUSE

By The Associated Press

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 1—President Hoover or "some other good friend of the dry cause" will have the support of the Ohio Synod of the United Presbyterian church in 1932.

The synod went on record to that effect at the close of its seventieth annual two-day meeting yesterday and praised the President for his stand on prohibition.

East Liverpool and other cities were promised the backing of the church in opposing Sunday motion pictures. Other resolutions adopted condemned divorce, advocated relief of the needy and urged observance of the Sabbath.

21 ARRESTED AT FRATERNITY PARTY

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 1—Twenty-one young men, whom officers identified as students at the University of Miami Law school and a professor of the institution, last night wound up a speakeasy celebration of fraternity pledge night at the jail.

Deputy sheriffs took them in a raid of the establishment. They were released after questioning.

Jerome B. Cohn, who said he was a member of the law school faculty, confirmed statements of the students they had assembled at the speakeasy to pledge several members of the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity.

Officers seized 27 bottles of home brew on ice and about 60 empty beer bottles.

After 40, Bowel Trouble is Most Dangerous

CONSTIPATION may easily become chronic after forty. Continued constipation at that time of life is productive of piles—and a host of other disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. When they need help, a doctor knows what is best.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other mild, harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, your tongue is coated; whenever a headache, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Next time, take a spoonful of this family doctor's laxative. See how good it tastes; how gently and thoroughly it acts. All druggists.

Records Show September Behaved Month of Year

September was not an unusual month not nearly so unusual as several of its predecessors Things even months have to be out of the ordinary before much can be said or written about them

The temperature kept within the average for September being nearly 71 for the month The rainfall was only two one-hundredths above the average

No heavy frosts ruined Marion's late crops which is as September should be Weather bureau statistics show that in Marion the first killing frost should not be before Oct 31

September is noted for its nice weather and the 1931 September kept within its record Twelve of the 30 days were clear from sunrise to sunset and 17 were clear when the weather report was made In the morning clouding slightly before the last reading was taken at the local bureau Eight days were cloudy and 10 were partly cloudy

Sept 2 almost an inch of rain fell and nearest amount at a single downpour at any time during the month The total rainfall for the month was 3 15 inches The average is 3 13 inches

The high temperature for the month was 93 on the 11th and 21st The thermometer reached 90 or above on seven days The nights were cool especially in the last half with the thermometer registering 40 on the 28th

In 1908 the high temperature of the month was reached with the thermometer at 100 The low for September is 29

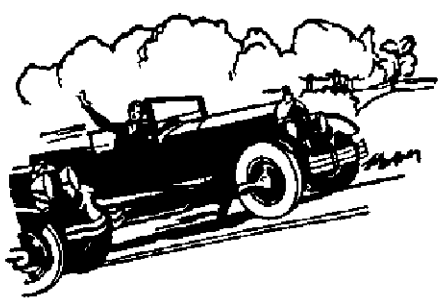
Maybe you know these people . . they live in Ohio but they're all "from Missouri"

"JUST ANOTHER KIND OF GAS," THOUGHT THIS SALEM LADY



"'X-70—just another kind of gas to help wear out tires' is what I thought when I said, 'Fill 'er up'.

"The old bus did run a little smoother and it seemed to start a little easier, but I attributed it at that time to its eccentricities. (A car you know, with seventy thousand miles is just naturally temperamental.)

"However, while driving up a hill the other day, a car started to pass near the top and was about abreast of me when another car came over the hill toward us, going like blazes. None of us could stop quickly enough, so feeling that 'three was a crowd' I stepped on the gas and darned if the old Kissel didn't step out when all laws of cheap gas would have made her spit and sputter. I got out of the way—the passing car got back on its own side of the road and the other car got by without any of us visiting the hospital.

"Maybe it was just Providence, but I think it was mostly 'GAS'—Sohio X-70 Gas."

(Actual letter from Mrs. ——— of Salem, Ohio, whose Kissel car has been driven 72,000 miles.)

DAD WAS "SET IN HIS WAYS" BUT SON PROVED HIS POINT

"My father drives a Cadillac, and is set in his ways concerning it. Occasionally I have used the car and have always been disappointed in its performance. I know the grade and make of gasoline he had always used, and frequently suggested to him that he make a change. The answer was always the same —that he was buying the best and most expensive gas he could get and was going to stick to it.

"Last Sunday I drove his car on a short trip through the country. It took me back to the 'good old days' of motoring—no pick-up, terrific 'knocking' on the least pull, and shifting into second for all hills. I decided then and there to do something about it. Although a few gallons of gas still remained in the tank, I filled up with Sohio Extra-Ethyl. After a few miles the car responded better.

"The funny part came next day after Dad had driven the car. He was quite enthusiastic about how well the car had run all day When I explained why, he remained silent and I believe was somewhat chagrined at first. However, my point had been proved

"He has finally 'made the change,' and his new standard is Sohio Extra-Ethyl."

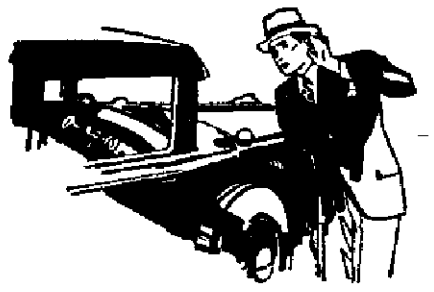
WORKED WITH MACHINERY ALL HIS LIFE—BUT THOUGHT HIS EARS WERE "PLAYING TRICKS" ON HIM



"Until six weeks ago I was using any old kind of gas simply because I have several friends operating gas stations and I patronized them. One day I run out of gas right near an S. O. Station. It was very hot and I remarked to the attendant that it was a bad day for old motors, as mine was very noisy. The attendant suggested that I try the new Sohio Extra-Ethyl. I purchased five gallons, drove about one-half mile and the old motor was running so quietly that I thought my ears were playing tricks on me. I swallowed several times and shook my head to restore my hearing and still the old motor purred along like a Rolls-Royce and believe me, I will always use heat-tempered Sohio Extra-Ethyl for these reasons.

"There isn't a knock in it. I have worked with machinery all my life. I know that the quieter a machine runs the longer that machine will last. It means economy in more miles per gallon and less repair bills. It means 100% more pleasure in driving. It means new life for old motors and long life for new ones."

(Actual letter from Sohio user of McKee, Ohio, whose Overland Coach has been driven 37,433 miles.)

We like people to be "from Missouri". Once they've been "shown", it's our experience that they stay with us as permanent customers for Sohio heat-tempered gasolines. Go ahead, be as "show-me" as you like. We'll accept your challenge at the nearest Sohio Station. Drive in today.

Moves to Marion

Believing that there were new fields to conquer farther west 'Daddy selected Marion as the city for his future studio and in 1891 began the work of selecting suitable quarters The studio where he is now located was in the newer section of Marion when he came here and the stairway was wider than those in the other buildings and the present location was decided upon He rented the studio from the late Amos H. Kling in the summer of 1892 and after the work of building a sky light ceiling and installing furniture, the studio was opened Oct. 1

When he came here there were three studios, Moore's, Vail's, operated by the father of Ed Vail whose studio is on east Center street, and the studio of Farley and Davison

Mixed Own Chemicals

When he began to study photography and for many years after he operated his own studio the photographer had to use distilled rain water to gain the necessary chemical purity in the developing fluid

The photographer had to mix the chemicals for his own developer sensitize his own plates and depend upon sunlight. A cloudy day meant that all appointments were cancelled until the sun came out.

Present day are lights and shadow screens had not even been thought of in 1871 The chemicals used in photography today are far more poisonous than those used in the old days Cyanide of potassium one of the most deadly poisons known is now a necessary part of every photographers chemical equipment

The People and the Navy.

The big navy issue is on the fire again and the people are expected to provide the fuel to keep it hot. The Navy League of the United States, a private organization, has assumed for some years past the responsibility of supplying a forced draught on popular opinion for that purpose.

The people, however, have remained coldly indifferent to the issue. The recent London naval conference, which they did not understand, only served to augment what might be called, at the worst, a lethargic attitude. Particularly in inland states the navy seems as remote in peace time as Mars itself.

This is what the big navy faction, in private life and government, has to contend with in upholding its side of the naval issue. This is the nature of the popular opinion that makes it possible for President Hoover, Secretary Stimson, and Under-Secretary Castle, three voices in the administration that are declaring against the naval strength increases demanded by the faction, to speak openly on that score. The Navy league's forced draft is blowing on dead coals.

Tuesday afternoon, Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, announced after a conference with President Hoover that it would not be possible at this time to place contracts for construction of the six remaining destroyers for which olds and estimates have been received. The last congress appropriated money for eleven destroyers to build the navy up to the London treaty strength; the administration, faced with the necessity of cutting the national budget, proposes building only five of them. A saving of approximately $27,000,000 will be affected. Further reductions requested would withhold from the navy $61,000,000 of the $401,000,000 asked for in its tentative budget.

These figures speak loudly to millions of people who are unconvinced as to the necessity for "keeping up with the Joneses" in naval strength. There is a conflict of inconsistency between the talk of disarmament on every side and the lone pleas of the big navy league that the United States build every ounce of naval tonnage to which it is entitled under the London treaty. It appears, indeed, to be a panicky effort to live up to the standards of a profligate rival who has been forced into a virtual receivership by his own unwise spending.

People who subscribe to the popular belief that the navy costs too much are nevertheless insistent that it be safeguarded against unwise curtailment. It happens to be the navy faction's hard luck that the people prefer to favor the administration's judgment on that score. President Hoover's obvious intention to pare the naval budget to a minimum does not frighten them a bit, in consequence. If the big navy advocates can make a stronger appeal to the people than reduction of expenditures they are welcome to try.

A New York woman has sued the Cunard company for $100,000, charging damages to that amount because employes of the company broke into her cabin on the steamship, Lancastria, took her from it and placed her in the ship's "brig." By way of defense the company has presented affidavits stating that when in a hotel in Southampton, England, she had complained that a non-existant man was under her bed. It has come to a pretty pass when a woman is mistreated for imagining a man under her bed! Why, some women have been looking for a man under the bed all their lives!

Moving the Pawns.

One more pawn has been moved in the game between the Republicans and Democrats for control of the national house of representatives. The Seventh Missouri congressional district has elected another Democrat, Robert D. Johnson, to succeed Representative Samuel C. Major, deceased. The Seventh district, fourth largest in the state, is normally Democratic, though represented in the last congress by John W. Palmer, Republican. Former Representative Palmer ran second in the race against Mr. Johnson.

The outcome of the election is important nationally only as it makes a doubtful district a sure thing for the Democrats. The house stood, when it was elected, 218 Republicans, 216 Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite. There have been eleven deaths since election, and three of the vacancies thus created had been filled by election of members of the same party as the decedents before the election in the Seventh Missouri district. Of the six seats remaining, including that one held by the late Nicholas Longworth, the chances are that all will be occupied by members of the same parties as the decedents. Prospects are good for a battle royal when the house organizes in December. At present, the Democrats are tied with the Republicans at 214 seats, with the probability that Representative Kvale, of Minnesota, the doubtful Farmer-Laborite, may vote with the former.

A Bow to the Philatelists.

Somewhere about the halfway mark of the last century the first stamp collector was created out of thin air. So quickly the stamp collecting rage spread over Europe and the United States that he had plenty of opportunities to see what he started.

The collecting craze scarcely lingered in the usual stages of struggling experimentation but went rapidly forward to maturity and ennobled itself with the resounding title of "philately." Its prestige has been increasing ever since.

There has developed a technique of collecting that is a veritable marvel of much ado about nothing. Stamps are traded all over the world. They are scrutinized minutely for all kinds of important quality, such as the way the perforations in the edges were made, the kind of paper used, the kind of gum smeared on the reverse side, the character of the impression, and others. Stamps that happened to be on letters which were carried on unusual voyages or were in any way connected with or affected by unusual circumstances will excite a true collector like a mechanical rabbit excites a racing greyhound. Stamp collecting is a hobby par excellence, no doubt of that.

One of the attractive features, of course, is the encouragement and actual support given it by the federal government through the postoffice department. No occasion is too small to send the department off in a buzz of excitement for a new stamp "in commemoration of" —and so forth. Postal employes spare no pains to accommodate excited philatelists with the best at their command. The government itself supports a philatelic agency.

An important forthcoming issue will be that commemorating the bicentennial anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Reading of the arrangements being made to give all philatelists an even break, one is likely to inquire why does the government go through the motions of selling its special stamp issues at all? No one is interested but philatelists, and their hobby is merely made the harder by chasing them around, at added expense to every one. Perhaps in due course of time they will be able to eliminate this difficulty of collection and get their stamps directly from the postoffice department at government expense.

Sanford Bates, director of federal prisons and one of the twenty-four experts who signed the report attached to the Wickersham commission's report on the American prison system, says that the government has already put into effect all the major changes and improvements suggested by the commission, and that almost without exception the prisons cited as bad examples were state or local institutions. So that's that! The remedy was applied by the government before the case was reported to the public.

Foundations of Fame.

Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, surveying flooded areas in China as an unexpected vacation activity, illustrate a difference between hollow and substantial fame.

When Colonel Lindbergh was an unknown airmail pilot preparing to fly from New York City to Paris he knew that he was gambling against tremendous odds for fame. He won, and the world literally knelt at his feet. It has remained there now for more than four years.

Since then, other aviators, many of them equally, if not more capable, have performed spectacular feats of flying, some of them more dangerously difficult than that performed by Colonel Lindbergh. They, too, have achieved fame, but where are they now? Forgotten. They lacked the lasting qualities that Colonel Lindbergh possesses.

His record as an aviator has been as near perfect as the normal risks of aviation permit. He followed up his initial triumphs with valuable service to the government as an ambassador of good will in Central and South America. He easily established himself as a trail blazer of the skies. He married the daughter of a highly respectable family. This was the same Lindbergh who, only a few months before, was an unknown mail pilot gambling against what seemed, then, impossible odds.

Since his marriage, Colonel Lindbergh's fame has increased, and rightly so. More than ever he is a symbol of safe flying—a symbol of incalculable value to aviation. It is a tribute to his character and to the character of Mrs. Lindbergh that Americans see nothing unusual in their willingness to assist China in its difficulties. It seems the natural thing for them to do. The foundation of their fame is bedded in the solid rock of earned respect.

Writing from Oslo, a correspondent says Norway did not like prohibition. Can this be taken to hold out the inference that Norway once underwent what we are experiencing over here? If so, it's heartening to know that it can be survived.

It might have been just as well had not Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills expressed the opinion that the adoption of the Hoover proposal would prove a good thing for the United States for the reason that what we would lose by the postponement of debt payments would be more than made up in a short time if it brought a return of better times. Possibly true. But what's the good of saying anything upon which the world might pin an accusation of a selfish motive on our part?

When it was shown that James Belcastro owned a $25,000 house and paid an income tax of $500 recently, a Chicago court refused to class him as a vagrant and ordered him released, although he was listed as one of the city's "public enemies." And the present way things are going, it will be but a question of time until vagrants will be found among the law-abiding only. The criminal world, thanks to its financing by the liquor traffic under Volsteadism, is accumulating the country's riches.

The American young woman fashion designer who on July 4 put on in Paris an exhibition of American styles of her own creation is back home and says that the Paris press and public alike were cold to her enterprise and that there wasn't any escaping the realization that her fashions were not wanted there. Possibly it hasn't occurred to her that Paris, to show the great French love for us, was busy celebrating the Fourth.

SYNTHETIC APPLAUSE FOR THE RADIO?

Some definite and more effective method of radio applause is in demand. The "delayed in transmission" sort of applause that radio entertainers are getting by postcard is not giving general satisfaction. Although a ton or two of written plaudits undoubtedly have some weight, it is the audible brand that inspires and stimulates. The telephone system has more speed, but even the spoken word is not entirely satisfying. Artists evidently are hungering for the old-time "salvos of hand-clapping" they so often "gracefully acknowledged" from behind the footlights.

There is said to be nothing like an "outburst of spontaneous applause" for making appreciation felt and encouraging a performer to reach greater heights. And so the radio industry should consider the desirability of arranging for a suitable and inspiring form of audible applause for the multitude of artists engaged in long-distance entertainment of the public at large.

The matter could be taken care of entirely in the studios and by the program directors. It ought to be a comparatively easy matter to lay in a stock of "canned" applause which may be prepared from all the old and best known recipes and opened simultaneously with the conclusion of an effort—good, bad or indifferent. The quantity and quality of the applause could be determined by the program directors, who would have access to all such brands as may be generally termed "Mild," "Heavy" and "Thunderous." Whether a can of "Vociferous" should be loosed, or one of "Cheered to the Echo," would depend largely on the good judgment of the director, who would have a sufficient variety to satisfy every taste.

The old brands of "Tumultuous Applause," "Rafter Resounders" and "Kid Glove Splitters" should be ready for any emergency. Although there may be moments when he will find it hard, extremely hard, to keep his hands off the "Boohoo" and "Hisses" cans, he should be as charitable as possible and make it a practice to release very small cans of "Plain Applause" for the more ordinary efforts.—Christian Science Monitor.

MAY NOT BE SO BAD.

This summer, like that of last year, has brought the weather close to the people. The relationship has been as intimate as four in a bed. July has browned us on one side. The question crowds itself into mind—will August parch us on the other side? This is a hot day thought that may cool before the interrogation is in type.

But our summer has not been all perspiration and difficult breathing. There is the beauty of ripening fields and gorgeous blooms. The trees have been and still are a special delight. With enough rain to quench their thirst the foliage is heavy and as green and almost as fresh as in early spring. They have protected the streets from blistering heat, again reminding the people that they possess an inestimable value.

Summer has not been without joys, and we should dislike being suspected of moaning when we ought to be singing of the morning's glory and twilights restfulness.—Toledo Blade.

Sleep and Good Health.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Most visitors to great cities complain that they can't sleep. Of course, a good many of them are so busy there are few hours left for sleep.

Out-of-towners are apt to wonder how "city folks" can get along with so little sleep. The fact is the natives are in bed long before the visitors even think of retiring. The activities of a big city are most alluring to those who can not indulge in them at home. Yet there is no doubt that most city dwellers do not get the same number of hours of sleep as do our cousins in the country.

Sleep is extremely important to health. Health can not be maintained for any long period of time without an abundance of rest.

Colgate university recently made a survey of the sleeping habits of over 500 men of distinction. It was learned that the average number of hours of sleep was from seven and one-half to eight hours.

Twelve hundred questionnaires were sent out and the fact that most of them answered, shows the widespread realization of the importance of sleep. Among the men questioned were governors, writers, generals, playwrights, doctors, college presidents, judges and other extremely busy men.

There is a tradition that great thinkers and men of genius get along with very little sleep. There is an old theory that five hours of sleep is plenty, and that old folks need much less sleep than younger people. Neither of these common beliefs is true.

Old, as well as young require sufficient sleep. Five hours are not enough to give an active mind and body adequate rest.

Many persons are eager to sleep, yet can not go to sleep. This may occur after a difficult day, particularly if much nerve strain and energy have been consumed. Many methods have been suggested to encourage sleep.

The least harmful of all methods of inducing sleep is to take a warm drink or hot bath just before going to bed. This method of obtaining relaxation is usually successful. I will tell you more on another occasion.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

F.K.C. Q—What do you advise for enlarged tonsils?

A—Have them removed.

A DAILY READER. Q—After suffering with rheumatism for a long time I finally had some abscessed teeth extracted—how long will it take to notice improvement in my condition? I have improved to some extent but still feel the old trouble at times.

A—If the system is kept in proper condition it should not take long for the infection or poison to be entirely eradicated. Follow your doctor's advice and judgment regarding further treatment.

* * *

A.D. Q—I am taking ——— in connection with other medication for goitre. Is there danger of taking too much? The directions advise two or three a day until forty have been taken. What would you advise?

2—I am very nervous. What can be done to remedy this condition?

A—Follow the advice of the doctor who is treating you. It is most unwise to attempt any treatment unless it has been specifically outlined for your particular case.

2—The nervousness is more or less natural if the thyroid is affected. Clear up the latter disturbance and you will notice general improvement. Have lots of rest and avoid mental upset and worry.

* * *

G. B. Q—What causes me to stagger and feel as though I couldn't walk unless I hold on to some object to maintain my balance?

A—This may be due to poor circulation or to a form of vertigo. Be sure that your general health is good—have an examination to locate the exact cause of the trouble. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Sir William Huggins.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The science of astrophysics may almost be said to control the subject of astronomy today. Spectroscopic methods are paramount, and long exposure photographs have revealed to us countless celestial wonders in the remoter regions of space. The first effective use of these methods is attributable to Sir William Huggins, who in his day was recognized to be one of the great astronomers. His methods dominate the science of astronomy, and have virtually created the new science known as astrophysics.

William Huggins was born in London on February 7, 1824. His education was chiefly received from private tutors, and at the City of London school which he attended for two years. At first he was interested in the minute rather than the immense; the microscope rather than the telescope. After succeeding to a private fortune, he devoted all his attention to astronomy. In 1854 he joined the Royal Astronomical society; and two years later, he had an observatory all equipped in his garden at Tulse Hill in London. This private observatory, fitted with an equatorial telescope of five-inch aperture and other instruments, occupied his time and attention until his death on March 12, 1910.

A treatise by Kirchhoff, showing how the dark lines of the solar spectrum could be made to reveal the physical condition of the sun, made upon his mind a profound and lasting impression. So in 1862 he began to concentrate his attention upon spectroscopic methods, with the object of making discoveries regarding very remote celestial objects of which comparatively little was known.

Working in collaboration with Sir William Allen Miller, Huggins studied in succession, by means of the spectroscope, Betelgeux, Aldebaran and Sirius. Huggins employed a careful analytic method in his work. He discovered much that was not hitherto known about the physical constituents of these and other stars.

In August, 1864, Huggins discovered in the spectrum of a planetary nebula in Draco, certain bright lines thus proving its gaseous nature. Other nebulae yielded like results; and in 1868 the Orion nebula proved to be of gaseous constitution. This, however, was not the case with the Andromeda nebula.

Stars which suddenly show up in the heavens, often expanding and contracting in a periodic way, are called "novae" or new stars. Huggins, by spectroscopic methods, showed that on these new stars were occurring conflagrations of hydrogen on a huge scale. This led him to formulate his now well-known explanation of novae, which has greatly influenced later astronomical theorists of the origin and structure of the universe.—Copyright, 1931, International Features Service, Inc.

When the South Adopted "Dixie."

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

That this minstrel song, "Dixie," written for the stage, became the accepted war song of the South at the very start of the rebellion, came as a very great surprise to Dan. Emmett, and was the cause of some confusion and embarrassment to him, a true northernet as he was, and the son of an active agent on the Ohio "underground railways." The song had been published for nearly two years before the South began to appropriate it as its own. It had met an enthusiastic reception everywhere, but its adoption exclusively by the southerners was accidental.

C. B. Galbreath, who first published the facts of Emmett's life, and saved for Emmett the credit for authorship of the song—for that matter was questioned and the credit was being ascribed to others—was able to fix the time and place when "Dixie" was given vogue in the South under circumstances that made it at once the song of the South.

In New Orleans, in the spring of 1861, a play was to be presented by local talent. A company of zouaves featured the show and a song was needed to accompany their entrance upon the stage, and the managers were having some difficulties in finding a suitable one. "Dixie" was suggested, and trial satisfied all that it would do admirably. Nobody seemed to know the author or care who composed it.

The song was well presented at the performance and the vast audience was swept off its feet. Seven encores were insisted upon, and Dixie became at once the talk and the song of the town. The Civil war was at hand. Dixie was tense with suppressed emotions which found an outlet in Emmett's minstrel song. The South put another meaning in the words, and soon "Dixie" was being sung throughout the South—in camp, on the march, on the plantations—everywhere. Emmett received many critical letters from northern people who charged that he had extended encouragement to secession. So far as is known, he never replied to these nor made any statement concerning the song and the purpose for which he wrote it.

Dinner Stories.

"What is this?" said the quiet man.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 1—Earl Carroll, since his graduation from song writing to theatrical producing, has been the Rialto's lone wolf. He did not run with the pack. Single handed he has faced almost every conceivable obstacle—from sudden desertion by backers to a year in Atlanta.

In appearance, Earl is a guileless, soft-voiced esthete whose wide eyes seem perpetually saucered in innocence. No one would think of him as author of a flaming sign heralding: "Earl Carroll, premier authority on feminine beauty," just to annoy a rival producer who passed it daily.

Only those who have felt the nips of his fangs, know that Carroll is the lone wolf who fights. Sometimes he has to be cornered, but in every scrimmage he has proved a dangerous foe. Many times his hopes have crumbled about him. Yet he rises Phoenix-like from the figurative ashes.

When he built and opened his first theater nine years ago, his initial effort, an ambitious allegory called "Bavu," flopped miserably, leaving his angels cold. Two other clean little dramas met the same fate. Then he turned to snappy revues and produced a ribald row of money-making successes.

There followed the chain of catastrophes winding up in the producer being shackled and carried off semiconscious to a federal prison. Broadway shook its head and sounded taps. Carroll returned a forlorn, hollow-eyed wreck who walked back streets at night in solitary dismay.

In a very short time he not only produced three shimmeringly smashing revues, but has rebuilt his theater into what is admitted the most elaborately sumptuous playhouse in America, opening with a box office hit. The experiment interests the average theater-goer for it presages a return to three-dollar prices in the theater.

His modern mosque offers endless innovations such as the elimination of the call boy by broadcasting to dressing-rooms, a view of audience reaction by the stage manager through powerful lenses and an official box with a private door to the stage for such famous guests, for instance, as the Prince of Wales.

Magazine writers are cupping heads for endless staring out workroom windows these days. Fashioners of fiction face the bleakest era of their careers. No periodical is immune. Depressing rumors circulate the literary world. Story prices have been slashed to the bone and many magazines, instead of buying, are using only reserve supply. Several top-notchers have withdrawn entirely from the market to await brighter times. Coupled with all this is the report that a number of high-priced magazines will parachute to ten cents shortly.

And there is a libel on the reportorial fraternity. At a dinner the other night a well-known metropolitan newspaper editor observed: "It doesn't mean a thing when an editor carries a cane, but I never knew a cane carrying reporter who wasn't a cuckoo." Business of baring a bloody, but unbowed, head!

* * *

Maybe it is true, but there are several Exhibit A's worth considering. Richard Harding Davis, Irvin Cobb, Charlie Somerville, Roy W. Howard and Phil Simms sported sticks during news-hustling days. And so did Floyd Gibbons.

London's most gifted reporter—at least the most highly paid—twirls a cane, clutches a monocle and upon occasions dons morning coats, top hats and such. He goes in for especial sartorial spree when sent to interview notables, inclined toward reluctance. He discovered no one will be abrupt to an interviewer with a lapel flower.

Bernard Sobel just rounds in from third base gasping that Helen Morgan has sold a batch of essays to College Humor. She recently installed a typewriter in her dressing-room and developed a naive prose poetry style—thingumbubs about Mr. and Mrs. Camel and the fun of desert trekking in the moonlight.

Beautiful Venice.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Nowhere in Italy is the efficiency of Mussolini demonstrated so clearly as in Venice, the terminus of the "Grand Tour" and native city of the mysterious and romantic gondolier.

For whatever we say about Il Duce he is efficient. Venice is unique and the Italian dictator, knowing its attractions for the itinerant has made the city on the water as appealing as possible to the traveler.

Venetian porters do not snatch your luggage and gouge you in league with the guiders of the gondolas. Venetian shopkeepers are not permitted to overcharge you and shortchange you just because you are a foreigner and unaccustomed with the Italian language. Hotels and restaurants are more sanitary than ever under Mussolini's stern rule. Rates are fixed by law and profiteering is promptly and sternly punished.

The Palace of the Doges, that shining marble monument to the profligacy and the unbounded wealth of the old rulers of Venice is as well-kept today as any American museum. The glorious murals on its walls and ceilings are worth viewing.

Even the famous pigeons in St. Mark's square that eat out of your hand seemed groomed for the occasion. Beggars that once overran the narrow streets and quays have all but disappeared.

It must be admitted that the gondoliers of old Venice are just as villainous looking as ever, but they charge fair rates and are courteous as men of their fiery natures and tempestuous heritages can be expected to be.

And, best of all, sweeping the streets and dusting off the antiques have not destroyed the ineffable charm of Venice. You look with affection upon all the old landmarks and in particular upon the house where Robert Browning spun out his poet's dreams. You feel, if imaginative, that you could write poetry if you lived in Venice long enough and we believe, with you, that you could. Venice is extraordinarily like that.

Woman's Board Reviews Work Done at Hospital Last Year

THIRTY-FIVE members of the Woman's Hospital board attended the first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon at White Oaks farm, the home of Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, president of the board. Mrs. J. Malcolm Strelitz was the assisting hostess.

Luncheon at 12 o'clock preceded an afternoon of sewing and a business meeting. A review was made of the work done by the board last year for City hospital.

More than 1,000 pieces of sewing were done for the hospital, including towels, bandages, curtains, etc., and approximately $1,000 was spent. A complete refrigeration unit was installed, equipment for the X-ray laboratory was purchased, and the reception room was refurnished and redecorated.

Mrs. H. B. Carpenter of Findlay, houseguest of Mrs. F. R. Mann of south Vine street, was a guest of the board. Mrs. W. R. Hickman of Bellefontaine avenue and Mrs. Herman S. Rhu will entertain at a meeting on Oct. 15. The meeting was postponed one day for the central district convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs.

Peak actually laughed. "And yet, before you knew it, you were in over your head."

"Yes," she agreed quietly, "that was it. I was in over my head. He asked me to marry him, and I said that I wouldn't. I was terribly sensible, and hard-boiled, and practical about it all. I said that when I married it was going to be for money; that love had no part at all in my scheme of life."

"He didn't like that, I imagine."

"He merely ignored it altogether. He kept asking me to marry him until, finally, I didn't care any more. I agreed to go to New York with him that very night. I was to meet him at the train. I packed my bag. I was all ready to go, and then—"

"I think I know the sequel," said Peak gently. "You found Nelson's letter saying that he had eloped."

"Yes, I found that letter, and it did something terrible to me. I had a brain storm. You know what happened."

"Yes."

She turned to him swiftly. "Why don't you say what you're thinking?" she demanded fiercely. "Why don't you tell me what I am? Why don't you admit that you hate me and be done with it?"

"I can't." He shook his head. "I can't for the simple reason that I don't hate you. We're equally guilty. You didn't tell me about Freddy Munson, and I didn't tell you that I've known all about him almost from the beginning. We're even."

"You've known, and you've been willing to be engaged to me just the same!" Sam said dully.

"I thought perhaps you might learn to forget about Freddy Munson and come to care for me. I gambled on that. Silly, wasn't it!"

"I don't understand," she said.

"You will later on when you get used to the idea," Peak told her. "In the meantime let's get on with the story. There's more to tell, isn't there?"

"There's a lot more to tell," said Sam vaguely.

"Then suppose you let me tell it." He nodded in the darkness. "I think I have the facts fairly well in hand."

Mystified, she peered at him, trying to see his face. "How can you have the facts?"

"Maybe I'm just a good guesser. At any rate, let me have a try.

"In the beginning," he said calmly, "you were so stunned by the things that had happened that you were practically numb. On one thing, however, you were determined. You were going to stick firmly to the course you had mapped out for yourself. You were going to marry me, and you were going to have nothing more to do with Freddy.

"That brings us up to the time when Fourth came into money. Fourth's windfall was a help. You didn't have to work any more and you didn't have to worry about bills. You were having a good time almost in spite of yourself, for the simple reason that you were not allowing yourself to think. Correct me, if I'm wrong."

Sam did not speak, so Peak nodded and continued with his story.

"We now come to the Holcomb's summer house on a windy moonlight night. Last night, to be exact. Something happened there which startled you from a long dream that hadn't been altogether unpleasant. You kissed me, and that trivial event brought you to yourself. You began to realize where you had been drifting, and to wonder whether you were being altogether fair to yourself, to me, and to Freddy Munson. You decided that things were a mess and that something would have to be done about them."

"Go on," said Sam in wonder. "Go on, Peak. Tell me more."

He shrugged. "There isn't much more. Freddy Munson's coming to town was just the lucky break you needed. It gave you your chance to straighten things out. You had lunch with him today and you straightened things out. That's all."

"Is it?" Sam inquired weakly. "Aren't you going to tell me just how I did it?"

"Is it necessary to go into all the grim details? You undoubtedly said that you had had a brainstorm and in the midst of it had made a terrible mistake. You indicated that you were quite sane again now, and you wanted to remedy the mistake. You asked if it was possible to remedy it? He said, with appropriate gestures, that it was eminently possible. The curtain fell slowly to soft music."

Sam said nothing. She sat motionless.

"And now," Peak continued gently, "we are in the midst of the epilogue. You are telling me what has happened and are asking me not to think badly of you. I, in my turn, am saying that I understand perfectly, and that you have nothing to regret. Nothing more remains but for me to wish you all kinds of happiness, and to take myself quietly away."

He sat up and reached into a pocket for his gloves. "And now I think I'd better be saying good night."

"Oh, Peak, you're wonderful!" Sam turned and put her hand on his arm. "You're so beautifully, gorgeously sure of yourself! Do you want me to tell you the true version of what happened this noon?"

"If you like. If it isn't too painful."

"It isn't painful at all. It's rather prosaic. Freddy and I had lunch. We discussed Fourth's invention. We talked about my new dresses and the parties I'd been going to lately. After that Freddy had to hurry away, because he was catching a train to New York."

Peak smiled politely. "So that's the true version is it? You haven't omitted any little details, I suppose?"

"Not many." She shook her head. "I've given you practically a complete story of what happened. Don't you believe it, Peak?"

"No," said Peak with sudden emphasis. "I don't believe it at all!"

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

THURSDAY. This was the first day of October, and next month will be Thanksgiving and we'll probaly have a turkey. I told Jubilee about it when we woke up, but he just listened like he didn't care anything about it and like turkeys ain't so hot with him, but he probaly didn't know what I was talking about. A dog has got brains but he hasn't any sense. A boy like me has got both. If it was the other way I wouldn't be pulling him up and letting him sleep with me; I'd probaly be under the house sleeping with him.

When I had let him down and had milked the cows and the bunch was waiting whilst I went in and fed my face, I said we'd probaly be having a turkey on Thanksgiving, and my father said maybe we would but turkeys were getting kinda proud these days and stopping associating with poor folks. My grandfather spoke up and said that he would see we had a turkey for Thanksgiving, but it might be a small one. He said that once when he was in the war his men hadn't ever had any turkeys so they began to eat turkeys and nothing else, so that turkeys began getting fewer and fewer and smaller and smaller till after, a while no one but the commanders could have them for dinner, and even then they weren't any bigger than humming-birds. He said it got so that they had to cut them with spoons, two or three turkeys to a spoonful. My aut said she didn't believe him, and Ike said he wouldn't have believed it himself if anyone else had told it, and then she said she would if anyone else had told it. So then I guess Ike and aut shook up to see who was right, and I guess I got shooked up shaking it.

Pokie and Tommie and Skippie and Jack came to play with me in the pasture with us, and Tommie had some pieces of broken up corn cobs and I had some and we had a corn cob fight and I got hit in the eye with one and it hurt like the dickens and I got ashamed and started to cry and Tommie said he was sorry and I said I was sorry I was a baby and I wasn't crying and I wasn't ashamed and I wasn't sorry and I wasn't
